Companies Worldwide Face Communication Challenges in All Directions. Does Yours?

Top Down

Leadership has no way of telling their stories to the whole workforce in order to impact how they view the company. How can we reach our entire organization and bring everyone into the conversation?

Side-to-Side

There's no "digital watercooler" where offline, frontline, and non-desk people can connect and share local or task-related insights. How do we engage all employees and boost morale?

From the Ground Up

We struggle to involve everyone in surveys and HR self services. How can we gather feedback and share important information directly with our people?

The Staffbase Solution

Mobile Communication

Your own branded app lets you talk with your employees the way they talk with one another—on the devices they carry everywhere they go—becoming more engaged with their work and better in touch with their colleagues.

Mobile HR Services

HR can share an unlimited variety of useful information via the app, from employee directories and benefit forms and documents, to sick notes or vacation requests. Create forums to gather feedback, and provide training and tools, including video.

Front Door Intranet

Available on mobile and desktop, Staffbase is the ideal front door to your digital workplace. Allow users direct access from one convenient entry point to the apps and tools they use most frequently.

“ At a company like ours that’s so spread out, the SampsonHub app has given us a great way to communicate. Now, we’re able to connect with employees in a way that is useful and engaging. The app gets people talking and really livens up our company.

FAQ

What’s the ROI?

Time is money. Emails, duplicated work, searching for information, and managing tasks consume more than 50% of most employees’ days. Imagine cutting those hours in half. How many resources do you have tied up in recruiting and training new staff due to high turnover? What’s the value of improving workplace culture and identifying the people—including non-desk workers—who add the most worth throughout your entire organization?

How do I get started?

At first sight, the idea of an internal communications app might seem simple, but look again. An app is more than just an additional channel for intranet content adjusted for responsive display on mobile screens. But while there are many basic challenges to be overcome, including questions about security, BYOD policies, app distribution, and segmented audiences, we’re happy to say that we have proven answers born from experience.

What can an app do for my intranet?

Less than half of all employees with access to their company’s intranet log on daily. Yet people pick up their smartphones more than 85 times per day. It’s therefore no surprise that mobile intranets have emerged as the best way to create engaging internal communications. The Staffbase content management system can be integrated with your existing intranet, letting you optimize information for mobile access, or it can be the front door to your digital workplace.

How much does it cost?

You can choose the plans and plugins that work best for your organization. Our pricing is flexible depending on your needs and number of employees. But no matter which options are right for you, it’s easy to get started with a pilot version so you can see for yourself how it works and get your organization excited. Head on over to our pricing page for more information.
